

Scott G. Weldon

Vice President, Supply Chain Management

Scott G. Weldon is vice president, Supply Chain Management for Ingalls Shipbuilding, a division of Huntington Ingalls Industries. In this role, Scott provides leadership to Ingalls Supply Chain Management functions, including strategic sourcing, operational procurement, inventory control and material warehousing.

Scott began his shipbuilding career in 1998 and has held leadership positions in Supply Chain, Business Management and Finance. He served a majority of his career as Business Manager on multiple Navy and commercial programs, including LHA/LHD amphibious assault ships, DDG Kidd-class destroyers and Polar Tanker programs. Scott has also served as Director of Finance and Manager of Accounting with Finance. Most recently, he served as the Chief Procurement Officer responsible for Strategic and Operational Procurement. Scott has assisted the Ingalls Apprentice Program as an adjunct professor in technical/occupational mathematics. He was designated Instructor of the Year for 2017.

Scott earned both a bachelor of science in business administration-accounting, and an MBA from The University of Southern Mississippi. Scott holds certification as a certified professional in Supply Management from the Institute of Supply Management. In 2016, he completed the Gulf Coast Business Council's Masters Program.

Huntington Ingalls Industries is America's largest military shipbuilding company and a provider of professional services to partners in government and industry. For more than a century, HII's Newport News and Ingalls shipbuilding divisions in Virginia and Mississippi have built more ships in more ship classes than any other U.S. naval shipbuilder. HII's Technical Solutions division provides a wide range of professional services through its Fleet Support, Mission Driven Innovative Solutions, Nuclear & Environmental, and Oil & Gas groups. Headquartered in Newport News, Virginia, HII employs more than 40,000 people operating both domestically and internationally.
